Your World of Music

WELCOME MESSAGE

I look forward to the participation of many fine Australian singers to join with singers from the United States for our Sydney Opera House concert.

As a part of our Gala Concert, we will sing the world premiere of a wonderful new work by Jake Runestad, composed especially for this occasion and for this gathering of choirs in Sydney! This concert will be a true ‘happening’ and will be a celebration of the power of choral music. There is nothing quite like coming together with choirs from around the world for an unforgettable shared musical experience.

Once again I will plan a program that will be a diverse collection of pieces and one that will be well suited to the participating singers. It is always one of my favorite parts of this process -- shaping a program that fits the time, location and context and the various strengths and interests of the participating ensembles.

We will sing in a loving and passionate way speaking to the good in the world giving voice to that which unites humanity.

I look forward to working with you all
